

Facilitation Skills for Chaotic Times

*2014-2015 Training Dates
Offered in Ukiah*

November 6-7, 2014
December 12, 2014
January 9, 2015
February 13, 2015
March 13, 2015
April 10, 2015

*Learn more at:
stevezuieback.com*

THE TRAININGS WILL BE HELD AT:
THE MENDOCONO
OFFICE OF EDUCATION

Cost : $695
(returning participants: $395)
To register or hold your space,
contact Jen Dalton

Phone: 415-412-8784
E-mail: jdalton@ncoinc.org

The challenges of working in today's organizations have become more complex and less predictable. In a world that is quickly becoming more connected through technology, there is a growing need to improve our communication skills.

This intensive training program provides participants with understandings about organizational systems, leadership and skills to facilitate the most demanding, challenging and creative types of group interactions.

"This is a class for our time. Steve Zuieback has well-honed knowledge, skills that he imparts about leading groups through their stuck places, creating stronger functioning organizations as a result. Then there's the great networking that results from the focus on real community issues with other folks working for the common good here. I highly recommend this series of classes."

- Mary Anne Landis, former Mayor of Ukiah

Your instructor, Steve Zuieback is president of Synectics and a member of Dalmau Consulting based in Australia. Steve lives in Ukiah and has extensive consulting and training experience with private business, governmental organizations, schools, communities and non-profit organizations in the areas of leadership, creative planning, change implementation, team development, and community building. Steve's professional activities take him around the country and around the world.